Dear Will,

I hope this finds you well. By now you've probably heard about the tragic mauling of the grizzly trainer in Big Bear City. We wrote to you back in February about animal trainer Randy Miller, whose company—Predators in Action—provided Rocky the grizzly bear to appear alongside you in Semi-Pro. It was Rocky who killed one of his trainers. (I've attached our letter with details about why training wild animals for films is a bad idea—for them and for humans they come in contact with.)

We know you to be a compassionate person, and we are hoping that this deadly incident will make you have a change of heart about acting with wild animals in the future. Will you please provide us with your assurance that you will no longer participate in films with animals? A word from you will go a long way in helping end the abuse of animals trained for entertainment and help avoid attacks like the one that took a life yesterday.

Please contact me at 323-644-7382. Thank you for your time and attention.

Best regards,

Michelle Cho
